

I put my phone numbers on the list for a reason. If I need to contact someone, I will do that myself. No-Call List means just that. There should be "NO" exceptions to the list. Banks are no different than any other business, and I don't want phone calls from any of them. There is a reason why this list was invented.

Because the people wanted it! I think the people spoke already.